

A SLICE OF PIE

Sunday, September 18, 2011 | 12:30–4 pm

LACMA | North Piazza | Free with general admission*

A day to celebrate baking, creativity, and everything pie! LACMA is this year's host for the 3rd Annual KCRW Good Food Pie Contest, where everyone from home-cooks to professionals will be judged by some of LA's best chefs and food writers, including our very own Kris Morningstar, chef at Ray's. Enter a pie, cheer on the competitors, or just enjoy a slice. Enjoy family friendly activities including an artful 'inedible' pie-making workshop, gallery tours, an apron fashion show, and a live, pie-appropriate soundtrack by KCRW DJ.

Pie contest cost: $10 per pie—visit kcrw.com/pie to enter and for more details.

Schedule

11 am–1 pm	Competitors drop off pies
12–4 pm	Pie and Lemonade from Patina available for purchase— sometimes it's okay to eat pie for lunch
1pm	Private pie tasting by the judges
12:30–3:30 pm	Family Art-Making Activity: Pie Art
1–3 pm	Gallery Tours: European Decorative Arts—fancy plates and tea cups to accompany your pie— good for all ages!
2 pm	Judges bring out top 15 pies and judge in public
2–4 pm	KCRW DJ Anne Litt spins
2–2:30 pm	Apron Walk-off!—Come to LACMA in your apron and get free general admission* to the museum. Then, participate in an Apron Fashion Show!
3–3:30 pm	Competitors serve samples of their pies to the public
4 pm	Announcement of winners

*Does not include admission to Tim Burton.

Image: Jo Ann Callis, Tigger and Apple Pie, 1980s, (detail) Photograph, Chromogenic development (Ektacolor) print, 9 $\frac{5}{8}$ x 12 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. Anonymous gift, Los Angeles, in honor of Robert Sobieszek, Photography Department