7. When do the theater doors open for events?

Doors open approximately 30 minutes before the event start time. Guests can line up starting one hour before the doors open.

8. Are there assigned seats?

All events are general admission.

FILM INDEPENDENT AT LACMA—FAQ

9. If I have RSVP'd for a free screening or purchased a ticket to a paid screening, is my seat guaranteed? What if I'm late?

For free events: Reservations for free events do not guarantee entry to the event. Entry into the theatre for free screening is first-come, first-served, even with ticket in hand.

Your tickets will be held until 15 minutes before the published start time of the event. (Example: you must be at the theatre at 7:15 pm for a 7:30 pm event.) RSVPs are required for free events.

For paid events: Your purchased seats are guaranteed until the published start time of the event, after which unclaimed seats will be sold to those in a standby line.

10. How does the standby line work?

If there are no more advance tickets available for an event, patrons may form a standby line beginning no earlier than one hour before the published start time of the event. If seats are available at the published start time of the event, they may be sold to those in the standby line on a first-come, first-served basis.

11. Are there free screenings?

Yes, Film Independent at LACMA will host many free screenings throughout each year for Film Independent members, LACMA Film Club, The New York Times Film Club, and the general public.

12. Can I pre-pay for multiple events?

Yes, you may pre-pay for all films currently listed at lacma.org.

13. I'm a The New York Times Film Club member. How do I reserve tickets?

The New York Times Film Club members should RSVP for free member screenings, co-presented by The New York Times Film Club ONLY at nytfilmclub.com. Tickets to all other screenings should be reserved at lacma.org. The New York Times Film Club members must pick up a hard ticket at the Hammer Building Ticket Office prior to entering the theater.

14. Why can't I purchase Live Read, directed by Jason Reitman tickets with the rest of this month's lineup offerings?

Live Read, directed by Jason Reitman tickets are sold apart from the rest of the monthly lineup in order to provide a better customer service experience for all of our membership groups.

15. Why don't I see the Live Read, directed by Jason Reitman event listed this month?

Live Read directed by Jason Reitman is programmed on a six-month cycle, from October to March annually.
