James Turrell Exhibitions on View Coast to Coast Summer 2013

A Three-Museum Celebration of the Artist's Career

What: In May and June 2013, the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA), the Museum of Fine Arts, Houston (MFAH), and the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York concurrently present three separate exhibitions highlighting the achievements of seminal American artist James Turrell (b. 1943), best known for his large-scale light installations. Independently curated by each presenting institution, the three simultaneous and complementary exhibitions together offer a full sense of Turrell's oeuvre, and explore different facets of his five-decade career. Audiences at all three exhibitions will be able to see and experience an unprecedented range of his work—from a retrospective in Los Angeles, to work from the extensive permanent collection and commissions in Houston, to a monumental site-specific installation in New York.

James Turrell: A Retrospective

May 26, 2013—April 6, 2014

LACMA presents the first major retrospective survey of the work of James Turrell. Curated by Michael Govan, LACMA's Wallis Annenberg Director and CEO, and Christine Y. Kim, Associate Curator of Contemporary Art, James Turrell: A Retrospective gathers approximately fifty works spanning nearly five decades in one of the most complete overviews of his career to date. The exhibition comprises his early geometric light projections, prints and drawings, installations exploring sensory deprivation and seemingly unmodulated fields of colored light, and recent two-dimensional holograms. A section is also devoted to Turrell's masterwork in process, Roden Crater, a site-specific intervention into the landscape just outside Flagstaff, Arizona, which is presented through models, plans, photographs, and films. Following its run at LACMA, James Turrell: A Retrospective travels to the Israel Museum in Jerusalem (June 1-October 18, 2014) and the National Gallery of Australia in Canberra (December 2014-April 2015).

THE MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS, HOUSTON

James Turrell: The Light Inside

June 9—September 22, 2013

Titled after the museum's iconic James Turrell permanent installation The Light Inside (1999), and centered on the extraordinary collection of additional work by the artist at the MFAH, the Houston exhibition makes several of the artist's installations accessible to the public for the first time. This survey of seven installations allows visitors to test the limits of their perception, and witness how light shapes space. Additionally, the artist's Mapping Spaces portfolio and other works on paper related to Turrell's epic Roden Crater project will be featured. The Houston presentation is curated by Alison de Lima Greene, MFAH curator of Contemporary Art and Special Projects.

SOLOMON R. GUGGENHEIM MUSEUM

James Turrell

June 21—September 25, 2013

James Turrell's first exhibition in a New York museum since 1980 focuses on the artist's groundbreaking explorations of perception, light, color, and space, with a special focus on the role of site-specificity in his practice. At its core is a major new project that recasts the Guggenheim rotunda as an enormous volume filled with shifting natural and artificial light. One of the most dramatic transformations of the museum ever conceived, this work will propose an entirely new experience of the building, reorienting visitors' experiences of the rotunda from above to below. Other works from throughout Turrell's career will be displayed in the museum's Annex Level galleries, offering a complement and counterpoint to the new work in the rotunda. This exhibition is curated by Carmen Giménez, Stephen and Nan Swid Curator of Twentieth-Century Art, and Nat Trotman, Associate Curator, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum.
